

ALEC LOCHORE (GBR)

SEEKING ELECTION AS CHAIR OF THE FEI EVENTING COMMITTEE.

EXPERIENCE

I have been involved in the sport of eventing for more than 25 years, initially as an international athlete, to more recently as an Event Director of multiple International Eventing competitions. I have also worked as a 3* and 4* course designer and been appointed as an Eventing Competition Manager and FEI Technical Delegate at the Olympic Games. Previous roles include:

CAREER MILESTONES

My day job is running an equestrian event management business and I have, over the past 18 years, run more than 90 successful national and international horse trials at all levels of the eventing spectrum. International level events include Burnham Market International, Houghton International and Blair Castle.

Innovation and technology have been a focus in the development of the sport and success of my business, as has been promoting the opportunity for, and support of, FEI Officials from around the world. This is illustrated by the fact that I have welcomed officials from 19 countries to the FEI Events I have run over the past three years. I have previously held the position of Deputy Chair of the FEI Eventing Committee (2010-2014), a Board member of British Eventing (2006-2010), and Chair of the British Eventing Risk Management Committee.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE ROLE AS CHAIR OF THE FEI EVENTING COMMITTEE

If elected as Chair of the FEI Eventing Committee, I would work with all stakeholders, through the FEI Office and FEI Eventing Committee, to drive the sport of eventing forwards, promoting an exciting contemporary sport with the highest standards of equine welfare and respecting the deep and long running heritage of the sport with particular focus on:

Stakeholder Communication

Ensure the continued development of good and clear lines of communication with all those involved and interested in the sport.

Risk Management

Continue the development of the expansive risk management of the sport, welcoming innovation and research to deliver safer sport whilst retaining the integrity of what our sport is based around.

Education & Training

Drive the education and training programme for all FEI Officials and promote athlete training at all levels.

Globalisation

Strengthen the development of the sport around the world by creating new and exciting opportunities for all athletes and FEI Officials from all parts of the world.

Olympic Status

Continue to drive the contemporary presentation of the sport to secure its place in the Olympic Games.

It would be a pleasure to discuss these ideas with you and any initiatives you believe the FEI Eventing Committee should consider. I can be contacted on:
