

FEI Eventing World Athletes Rankings Rules 2023

Last update on 09.02.2023

1. POINT ALLOCATION

Points are awarded on a basis related to the star rating of the individual Event and a set of points has been devised that rewards the Athlete according to the status of the qualifying Event and their finishing position. In addition, and as of 1 February 2021 the number of points attributed will also take into account the number of Dressage starters per Event (see table on page 2).

An Athlete must complete and achieve the Minimum Eligibility Requirements (MER) in the Event in order to receive points.

An athlete's best six scores over the season count towards their final position on the table. Athletes who enter several Horses in an Event may score points with each Horse.

An Athlete may enter Events in any Zone in order to gain points and prize money in the FEI Eventing World Athlete Rankings. The sport nationality of the Athletes determine in which Zone they will gain points for the Zone Rankings. At the end of each calendar year, final FEI Eventing World Athlete Rankings and Zone rankings will be published. In the case of a tie, the best placing at the highest level Event will decide. The level of an Event is defined according to the below table and not the star level. If this still results in a tie, the second best result of each Athlete has to be compared, and so on.

The Rankings are rolling over a 12 months' period (from the 1st day of the month the year preceding to the 1st day of the following month the year after).

At the end of each month the points earned during that month are added to the list. The points from the same month the previous year are dropped from the list.

2. POINT SYSTEM

Points to top 25% of Dressage starters in the Event as per current point system, subject to the percentage of Ranking points to be allocated depending on the number of Dressage starters are mentioned below.

Each Athlete finishing the Event with a MER will receive the same number of points, as per the below table.
