Exercise of Horses in Quarantine

Exercise of horses within Quarantine is permitted under the following conditions;

- It is the trainers/representative's responsibility to ensure all horses exercising outside the barns are wiped down with the insect repellent provided in each barn prior to exiting the barns. Where required, the daily treatment must be recorded and signed.
- During exercise periods, instructions from track stewards must be obeyed and a minimum 50 meters separation maintained between groups of horses. Failure to do so may result in a revision of export requirements and an extended quarantine period.
- Helmets to be worn at all times when mounted outside the Quarantine.
- Horses have been within quarantine for at least 48 hours and all required samples have been taken.
- There are not believed to be any infectious or contagious diseases within the group including but not limited to Ringworm.
- Any clinical signs noted during exercise must be reported to the relevant Quarantine Manager of the facility upon cessation of exercise.
- Exercise only takes place during permitted training hours and is at the discretion of the quarantine stewards.
- All tack and equipment required for exercise is delivered to the respective quarantine prior to commencement of riding for checking and disinfection.
- All tack and equipment must remain at quarantine for the duration of the quarantine period.
- All quarantine biosecurity procedures are adhered to and riders and their clothes have not been in contact with horses outside of the quarantine on the day of exercise.
