The Royal Jordanian Equestrian Federation hosted the first Regional training course for Endurance coaches L1 at the Amman riding center.

The RJEF was delighted to host the course and welcome the tutor Valerie Kanavy an Endurance legend and world champion with outstanding experience. Valerie's experience and knowledge along with the course material delivered outstanding content to the participants. With the help of Coach Mohamed who assisted Valerie with communication and translation the students were offered a wide-ranging learning experience.

3 national federations participated in the course with participants from Jordan, Palestine and Sudan, with the total of 10 participants. 2 participants were registered from Bahrain however had a last-minute cancelation. And there were 6 registered observers.

The course was a success, with the participants ending the course with new skills and knowledge. The course included classroom sessions, arena practice and field/track training, this offered the participants various environments to work in. It was also beneficial to the NF in shedding light on the weakness points and a better understanding of the knowledge and skills level in the coaching community, and paving the road for improvement with the right solutions.

The RJEF is thrilled to host such courses again, and we appreciate the support of the FEI and solidarity debarment, and we thank their collaboration in seeing this project succeed.
