Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games now available online

The FEI has compiled a Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games, to ensure that both Athletes and Horses competing at the Games will be compliant with the anti-doping rules. Available in eight languages (English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, German - Arabic, Chinese and Japanese soon to follow), this guide provides pertinent information regarding, but not limited to:

- Essential human and equine anti-doping concepts you need to know
- What anti-doping will look like in Paris 2024
- Pre-arrival to-do lists

Access the full Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games in the language of your choice right here. Alongside this essential tool, we would also like to remind you that detailed information on both human and equine anti-doping is available to you in the FEI Clean Sport hub on Inside.FEI.org.

Please note that in due course, a dedicated Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Paralympic Games will also be made available and communicated to our stakeholders.

Anti-doping preparations - Get Started Now

In order to prepare for clean Games, the first thing you need to do is make sure you are well informed. The Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games redirects you to resources made available to you such as, but not limited to, valuable reading material, e-learning platforms and webinars.

Now is also the time to review all Athlete and Horse medical/veterinary treatments in line with the applicable rules and procedures. You can find out more on this topic under the sections "How should you prepare?" and "Your pre-arrival to-do list" of the Doping & Medication Guide for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games.
