OPENING BY THE FEI PRESIDENT

In his opening speech to the FEI Hybrid General Assembly 2023 in Mexico City, the FEI President extended greetings to members, friends, and equestrian enthusiasts worldwide. He expressed his gratitude to the Mexican Equestrian Federation for hosting the event and acknowledged the diverse representation with 69 National Federations attending in person and 34 registered to participate online.

President De Vos introduced new key hires, such as the FEI Director of Jumping and the FEI Director for Dressage, Para Dressage and Vaulting, and recognised the absence of the Chair of the Athletes Committee and the Chair of the FEI Dressage Committee due to unforeseen circumstances. He emphasised the importance of addressing global conflicts, expressing support for the equestrian communities in these times of hardship in line with the Olympic message: one of hope, optimism, and solidarity.

The President's speech covered topics such as the Equine Ethics and Wellbeing Commission's final report, scientific research initiatives, sustainability efforts, and accessibility in equestrian events. The President reassured the community of the FEI's financial health but acknowledged the financial challenges faced by the organisation in 2022.

The speech highlighted sporting achievements, outlined upcoming events, and especially the upcoming Paris 2024 Olympic and Paralympic Games with iconic equestrian venue at Versailles, and discussed the launch of the Longines League of Nations™. The importance of collective effort, good governance, and sustainability were emphasised to secure the sport's social license and ensure a bright future.

The President concluded his opening speech with gratitude to stakeholders, sponsors and in particular Top Partner Longines with whom the FEI celebrated its 10th-year anniversary in 2023, and volunteers. He invited delegates to join him in remembering cherished members of the FEI and Olympic Family lost in the past 12 months.

The Minutes of the FEI Hybrid General Assembly 2022 were approved.

FEI ANNUAL REPORT 2022

The FEI Annual Report 2022 was approved.

FINANCE

The FEI Chief Financial Officer (CFO) presented the 2022 audited financial statement to the Board. Revenues in 2022 amounted to CHF 48,487,110 and expenses to CHF 50,984,538.

The CFO explained that although the year had been very good operationally, the war in Ukraine, the inflation that had followed and the rapid rise in interest rates had driven the financial markets in the red zone as of March 2022 and had had a negative effect on the FEI portfolio. The effect of the rapid rise in interest rates by central banks across the world to fight inflation had been two-fold.

On one hand, it had provoked a recession fear and a slump in the stock market as profit expectations had been lowered for companies due to more expensive borrowing conditions, which had been particularly felt in the tech sector.

In addition, it had driven bond valuations down as bond values move in the opposite of interest rates. Therefore, the valuation at 31 December 2022 had resulted in a loss of CHF 2'497'428 for the FEI financial year 2022.

The CFO clarified that bonds would be reimbursed at 100% of face value when they expired. Consequently, as long as the debtor was of good quality, the loss remained mainly on paper. A loss would be realised if a bond were to be sold, which was not the case.

The General Assembly approved the audited financial statement for 2022.

The General Assembly released the Board and Secretary General for the year 2022.

The General Assembly appointed PricewaterhouseCoopers, Lausanne (SUI) as the Auditors for 2024.

The CFO presented the budget for 2024, which contains a slight deficit of –CHF 391'115. This highlights the need for the FEI to perform a closer analysis of its priorities, expenses and revenues and to ensure that the structure is adequate and in line with the spending capacities of the organisation. This work will be performed during the first semester of 2024 and proposals on the way forward will be made to the in-person FEI-Board meeting in June 2024.

The General Assembly approved the financial charges for the year 2024. The financial charges for 2024 remain unchanged compared to the previous year.

EVENTING

The Chair of the FEI Eventing Committee presented a comprehensive report on the Committee's activities. In 2023 the Committee met via teleconference and in-person to receive updates on preparations for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games and discuss the Eventing Risk Management Programme; proposed modifications to the FEI Eventing Rules 2024; documents supporting the Rules such as The Cross Country Guide for Officials, Memorandum and Equipment & Tack FAQ; and education of Officials.

Since its inception in 2000, the FEI Eventing Risk Management Programme has amassed 23 years of data, showcasing a consistent improvement in data quality. The collected information, including fence descriptions, fall reports, and fence analyses from each competition, has facilitated significant data mining for the Risk Management Steering Group, aiding in queries related to Athlete and Horse qualification and addressing technical issues in the discipline. Looking ahead to 2024, there are plans to transition from a manual data collection process to an online system, aiming to enhance accuracy, streamline data entry for Officials, and simplify database management for the FEI Headquarters.

Where key statistics are concerned, in 2023, the number of competitions increased by 7.8%, totalling 858 compared to 796 in 2022.

Horse falls have shown a decreasing trend over the last decade, with a continued reduction of 70% in rotation falls. A 16% reduction in horse falls has also been registered since 2016. It was noted that 25% of falls were non-fence related which would require further study. The Chair encouraged other disciplines to make similar studies on falls to better understand their causes and help the horse industry move forward.

The Chair provided an update on the FEI Risk Management Policy and Action plan, the FEI Eventing Forum and NSO Seminar held in January 2023, which had allowed active discussions regarding the strategy for the future of the discipline.

A mention was made of the implementation of the updated Education system for Eventing which was created to enable the discipline to adapt positively for the future. As any change, implementation and a balanced outcome would will take time.

In addition, the Chair reported on the activities of the Eventing Risk Management Steering Group (RMSG); the Eventing series, championships and Games; the FEI Eventing Nations Cup™; the FEI Eventing World Athletes Rankings; and the Eventing Development Programme with special mention of the launch of the Eventing Challenge in 2023. It will be a valuable tool for the discipline's growth in the future.

MEDICAL

The Chair of the Medical Committee presented a report on activities covering

- Medical coverage at Events;
- NF Medical Advisor project
- Personal safety equipment
- Human anti-doping programme
- Medical Committee focus for 2024

An innovative project is the cooperation of the Medical Committee with the FEI Solidarity department to establish a National Federation Medical Advisor programme, aiming to improve athlete safety and well-being. This initiative seeks to create a communication channel between the NFs and FEI, particularly benefiting smaller NFs with limited resources. The program envisions volunteer Medical Advisors, experienced in sports medicine, who will facilitate communication on health matters, assist in anti-doping education and compliance, and coordinate medical coverage for FEI events in their respective countries, with an educational programme slated for development in 2024.

In 2023, the FEI Medical Committee, in collaboration with the Eventing Risk Management Group, convened experts in helmet and air vest safety standards and design to enhance performance levels in equestrian sport. Recognising the importance of minimising serious injuries in horse and athlete falls, the Committee established a working group to review helmet standards. The international expert panel, comprising engineers, standards experts, medical professionals, athletes, and representatives from other equestrian disciplines, concluded that additional testing measures and new energy transmission limits to the brain should be implemented in helmet standards. The findings are set to be communicated to FEI stakeholders by the end of 2023, with ongoing updates based on evolving materials and research. Additionally, the Medical Committee is coordinating the formation of an expert task force to address safety and effectiveness in air vests.
