Lausanne, 26 June 2018,

Dear FEI Endurance Officials,

Dear FEI Endurance Course Directors,

Recently there has been some confusion among FEI Endurance Officials regarding how to sanction Athletes for Incorrect Behaviour.

In order to clarify and ease the process, the FEI Endurance Department has created a new Endurance Yellow Warning Card that has been adapted specifically for the discipline of Endurance.

During FEI Endurance Rides, the Endurance Department invites you to use the Endurance Yellow Warning Card for all offenses except Incorrect Behaviour.

For Incorrect Behaviour offense, please only use the Incorrect Behaviour Card. If you need more information regarding this card, please read the guidelines in annex and/or refer to the Endurance Note for Guidance:

You can download both cards on the FEI website (<https://inside.fei.org/fei/your-role/athletes/warning-cards>).

The Endurance Department reminds you that those two cards must be addressed to the Person Responsible (ref. Art. 118.3 of the General Regulations). The Person Responsible is the Athlete. Even if it is the groom, the trainer or a team vet who did the offense the cards must be given to the Athlete.

We encourage your efforts and we remain at your disposal if you need any further information.

Kind Regards.
